

Success trap: Managing the education of 200+ students

Associate professor Joana Geraldi &
Associate professor Christian Thuesen
DTU Management Engineering

Messenger: Educational Consultant Pernille Andersson LearningLab DTU

Session elements

1. Welcome video by Joana and Christian
2. Reading exercise
3. Group work
4. Final video by Joana and Christian
5. Video with results from the course

Educating 250+ Students (and developing academic career): Learnings from our bachelor course 42429/42430

Joana Geraldi, Assoc. Prof.

Research interests: developing a fruitful context for project work, including project organizing, behavioural decision making, visualization, learning and cognition

Christian Thuesen, Assoc. Prof.

Research interests: Projects as vehicle for societal change, including construction, sustainable development, humanitarian work, innovation, learning and digitalization

Introduction

Workshop

2. 5 minutes reading exercise: Decide which challenge you would like to discuss soon

3. Group work:
 - Turn to the people next to you and form a group.
 - Decide on which challenge to discuss. You focus on only one.
 - Take some notes from your discussion.
 - Write your names on the paper. Joana and Christian would like to follow up.

Educating 250+ Students (and developing academic career): Learnings from our bachelor course 42429/42430

Joana Geraldi, Assoc. Prof.

Research interests: developing a fruitful context for project work, including project organizing, behavioural decision making, visualization, learning and cognition

Christian Thuesen, Assoc. Prof.

Research interests: Projects as vehicle for societal change, including construction, sustainable development, humanitarian work, innovation, learning and digitalization

Summing up

Educating 250+ Students (and developing academic career): Learnings from our bachelor course 42429/42430

Joana Geraldi, Assoc. Prof.

Research interests: developing a fruitful context for project work, including project organizing, behavioural decision making, visualization, learning and cognition

Christian Thuesen, Assoc. Prof.

Research interests: Projects as vehicle for societal change, including construction, sustainable development, humanitarian work, innovation, learning and digitalization

Result